

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A semiconductor structure which includes a raised source and a raised drain. The structure also includes a gate located between the source and drains. The gate defines a first gap between the gate and the source and a second gap between the gate and the drain.